Helping Youth Thrive through 4-H

For over 100 years, the 4-H youth development program has helped to empower youth to reach their full potential through working and learning in partnership with caring adults. 4-H youth development is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. The University of Idaho is our state’s land grant institution and has operated the Extension service cooperatively with county governments in Idaho since 1912. The 4-H program empowers youth to voice and express who they are and how they make their lives and communities better. The 4-H motto is “to make the best better”. University of Idaho Extension is dedicated to creating equal opportunities for all youth, regardless of race, ethnicity, or background, and along with the University of Idaho, has a policy of nondiscrimination. 4-H strives to reflect America and celebrates diversity from all beliefs and backgrounds.

The 4-H program is dedicated to providing high-quality youth programs and settings where youth belong, matter, and can explore their personal spark. Positive youth development (PYD) research has shown that there are two key elements that help youth to thrive in life—a sense of belonging and a caring adult beyond a parent or guardian. 4-H personnel and volunteers are advised to help youth feel included and valued. Youth are encouraged to discover their spark—what their passions are and what drives them.

Teton County 4-H along with other 4-H programs throughout the nation provide youth with hands-on learning opportunities that cultivate inclusion, diversity, and belonging. Likewise, volunteers and staff are provided with high-quality peer-reviewed 4-H curriculum, trainings, and programs that help youth thrive. Indicators of youth thriving include: openness to challenge and discovery, developing a growth mindset, hopeful purpose, pro-social orientation, transcendent awareness, positive emotionality, and self-regulation through goal setting and management. Emphasizing these social-emotional skills helps youth achieve positive outcomes such as academic motivation and success, social competence, high personal standards, connection with others, personal responsibility, and contribution to community through leadership and civic engagement.

Moving into the 2024-2025 4-H year starting in October, we are committed to playing a part in supporting youth and providing a safe and welcoming space for them to grow and learn. University of Idaho Extension 4-H Youth Development thanks you for your role in “making the best better” by investing your time and energy in the 4-H and other Extension programs! We are always looking for volunteers to help with our 30+ 4-H clubs and ongoing day camps, so if you have a spark, talent, or interest in giving back to our county’s youth, please reach out to us! Thank you for your service!

FREE WEBINAR

Does My Farm
Have the Right Property
Insurance Coverage?

September 17, 2024 | 11 AM CT

Farm Commons Property Insurance Webinar

September 17 | 11 a.m. CT

Running a farm or ranch business often depends on buildings, equipment, vehicles, and supplies for day-to-day success. If these valuable assets are lost or damaged, it can be devastating to profitability. Different types of property insurance can help address this risk, but only if the farmer clearly understands how these products work. Does your operation have the coverage it needs?

University of Idaho Extension Publications

Pasture Principles for Smaller Acreages

Hanquettes and small farms are cropping up in rural landscapes across Idaho, spurring demand for information on pasture management. This updated publication addresses the most common concerns (scripting a pasture plan, pasture improvement and renovation, healthy soil maintenance, weed management, and balancing livestock and plant production) to help you become a more confident and capable pasture manager.

Sustainable Small Acreage Farming in Idaho: Finding and Evaluating Land

This publication provides an overview of important considerations for people looking for land on which to establish a successful small farm or ranch. These include farm planning, natural resources, topography, climate, pests and problems, physical assets, nearby activity, site history, legal and regulatory considerations and marketing farm products.

Also included are several stories of small acreage farmers describing how they selected their land, and a checklist to help the reader work through evaluating a piece of land

WESTERN SARE FARMER/RANCHER RESEARCH & EDUCATION GRANT

The Western SARE Farmer/Rancher Research & Education Grant Program focuses on advancing on-farm sustainability solutions by funding innovative producer-driven research and outreach. This grant program involves agricultural producers (main applicants) and technical advisor(s) implementing projects to address identified needs in sustainable agriculture.

APPLY BY OCTOBER 23

<https://western.sare.org/grants/farmer-rancher/>

Projects with 1-2 producers may apply for up to $25,000 and projects with 3 or more producers working together may apply for up to $29,900.

With a Farmer/Rancher Grant, a producer and a technical advisor work together to develop a project (1-3 years in scope) that conducts both research and outreach on a sustainable agriculture topic. With the support and guidance of the technical advisor, producers must integrate research and education to conduct on-site/on-farm experiments to address social, environmental, and economic aspects of agricultural sustainability. The goal of this program is to achieve results that can be communicated to other producers and professionals; sustain and improve the environmental quality and natural resource base on which agriculture depends; improve the profitability of producers and associated agricultural businesses; and enhance the quality of life for producers in local communities. Outreach activities may include on-farm/ranch demonstrations, farmer-to-farmer educational activities, and other approaches to assist producer adoption of sustainable agricultural practices.

ORGANIC CERTIFICATION

APPLY BY OCTOBER 31

Organic Certification Cost Share Program (OCCSP) provides cost share assistance to producers and handlers of agricultural products who are obtaining or renewing their certification under the National Organic Program \(NOP\). Certified operations may receive up to 75 percent of their certification costs paid during the program year, not to exceed $750 per certification scope.

Eligible OCCSP applicants include any certified organic producers or handlers who have paid organic certification fees to a USDA-accredited certifying agent. Cost share assistance covers expenses including application fees, inspection costs, fees related to equivalency agreement and arrangement requirements, inspector travel expenses, user fees, sales assessments and postage. OCCSP pays a maximum of $750 per certification category for crops, wild crops, livestock, and processing/handling.

Avian Influenza in Idaho

Information for bird owners

Avian influenza (AI) is a virus which can infect all birds. Domesticated birds may become infected through direct contact with infected waterfowl or other infected poultry, or through contact with surfaces that have been contaminated with the viruses.

Two different strains:

*Both strains can occur naturally in wild migratory waterfowl.

- Highly pathogenic avian influenza (HPAI) – these virus strains are deadly to domestic poultry and can spread rapidly from flock to flock. This is a reportable disease. Disease can be slow and mild in waterfowl.
- Low pathogenicity avian influenza (LPAI) – these virus strains are most likely to be carried by wild migratory waterfowl and shorebirds without causing illness. LPAI can infect domestic poultry. Symptoms are usually milder.

How is HPAI Spread?

- HPAI is spread by direct contact between birds, by coughing and sneezing and through poop.
- People can spread HPAI by moving infected birds, moving contaminated equipment and feed, and by wearing clothing and shoes that have been in contact with infected birds.

Symptoms Include:

- Sudden death without clinical signs
- Lack of energy and appetite
- Decreased egg production or soft-shelled or misshapen eggs
- Swelling of head, comb, eyelid, wattles and hocks
- Purple discoloration of wattles, comb and legs
- Nasal discharge, coughing and sneezing
- Incoordination

Report Sick Birds

- If you have multiple sick or dying birds, call a local veterinarian, or refer to ISDA's avian influenza flow chart for reporting guidance.
- The avian influenza flow chart and bird owner reporting form can be found at agri.idaho.gov.

Poultry owners and growers are encouraged to always practice good biosecurity to prevent the spread of AI. Visit agri.idaho.gov for more information.

Teton County 4-H believes in the power of young people. Every child has valuable strengths and influence to improve the world. We invite you to explore with us.

A 4-H Club is a group that meets locally year round. Clubs focus on projects that encompass a range of activities. Club members complete one or more age-appropriate projects per year and present at Teton County Fair.

Youth ages 8-18 can join 4-H. Youth must be 8 by December 31, 2024 to enroll in 4-H. Some projects have age limits.

Cloverbud introduces children 5-7 to 4-H. They must be 5 by December 31, 2024.

Dues and fees for the 2024-2025 4-H year are $60. Some projects have additional costs.

The 2024-2025 4-H year begins on October 6, 2024. Some projects/clubs have enrollment deadlines so enroll early.
